Skeeter

2/21/76

What can I say? Skeeter is... different. He doesn't have any known family and I figure people have been taking advantage of him all his life. He's probably wanted by the law for crimes he doesn't even know he committed. He eventually got a job on one of Daddy's pit crews. When I decided it was time to leave, he came with me. I have to say he's the best damn mechanic around. He can fix anything.

He'll follow you and Taurus in his van, and cannibalize the creepers' cars. When the action slows down, he'll hook up with you and do any salvage and repair work you want done. The weird thing about Skeeter is that sometimes he sees things clearer than anyone else — he can say some pretty dark shit. A word of advice: watch out when he drives, I think he's narcoleptic.

At a benefit for the United Texas Law Enforcement Agencies last night, respected businessman Antonio Malochio presented Marshall Jessup Stetson of the Texas Rangers with a donation of $500,000 to aid in the fight against crime and corruption. Texas Governor Paul Whitfield issued a statement officially thanking Malochio and Norman Industries Limited, the company he represents, for their generosity.

"With the generous assistance of Mr. Malochio and his associates at N.I.L., we can make significant advances in our fight against crime. I can only hope that other businessmen will follow his shining example." Whitfield said.

Antonio Malochio, a Vietnam veteran, co-owns numerous import/export businesses throughout the state and has donated on occasion to various state and organizations. He was back in February 2, 1975, at a benefit for the homeless of the county of New York where they had a party with respect to

I guess now I should tell you why I'm asking you to risk your life. I wish I could give you a better explanation than I've got, but here it is. Right before I left the racing circuit in Texas, I noticed a lot of shit happening. Auto-villains were creeping up everywhere and the cops either couldn't or wouldn't do a damn thing about it. Crime was rampant. But it seemed organized, like something bigger was going on than just what everyone was seeing. I started doing a little snooping around and realized that something big was going down. Something I couldn't let happen. Here's what I know....

The man behind it all is Antonio Malochio, a 'Nam vet who served three consecutive tours. He was one of those guys who liked it over there. This guy was into some heavy shit deep in the jungles of Cambodia, and supposedly he was connected with Pol Pot, leader of the Khmer Rouge. After the war, he returned to his business as a furniture importer/exporter. I t's all a front. From what Taurus and I can tell, he's been dealing with some "businessmen" in the Middle East who have been "funding" him. And now he's recruited every freelance auto-mercenary in the Southwest. He's building an army, Groove, and something big is going down. You have to find out what he's up to. I t's obvious that the cops won't be much help. But you've got to get to Texas and find out what's going on. People are dying.

This is big. Very big.

Interstate '76 includes 3D hardware acceleration for 3Dfx and Rendition chipsets. Provided you have a 3D video card using either of these chipsets, these additional play options are available after selecting Play from the Title Screen:

- 3Dfx This option launches the game using the native 3Dfx Glide API. A 3D video card using a 3Dfx chipset is required. Selecting this option without having a 3Dfx card properly installed in your system will cause the game to crash.
- Rendition This option launches the game using the native Rendition RRedline API. A 3D video card using a Rendition chipset is required. Selecting this option without having a Rendition card properly installed in your system will cause the game to crash.
- Direct 3D This option launches the game using Microsoft's Direct 3D API, which is a part of DirectX. This option allows for accelerated play on both 3Dfx and Rendition video cards. Using this option, the game may also play on other Direct 3D compatible 3D cards, such as PowerVR, but performance is optimized specifically for 3Dfx and Rendition cards.

These options are available in addition to the standard Normal and Windows modes, which do not require a 3D accelerator card. For troubleshooting and further general information regarding 3D acceleration for Interstate '76, please consult the Technical Help file accessed from the Title Screen (the Title Screen displays shortly after inserting the Interstate '76 CD into your CD-ROM drive).

MELEE features a variety of both multi-player and single-player modes divided into two main sections.

Multi Melee

Here you can host or join a battle via local area network (IPX).

Interstate '76 features dynamic network play in the form of host migration and dynamic joining. A player who is hosting a network game can exit without affecting the current game. Instead another player is automatically selected as the host. Also, players can join a network game at any time without having to start a new game. Due to the complexity and nature of the multi-player technology, you may experience various bugs.

Auto Melee

Here you can select from a variety of single-player Scenarios that feature Groove and Taurus, and Instant Melee missions where you select computer-controlled auto-villains to battle.

Multi Melee - IPX (Local Area Network)

To Host

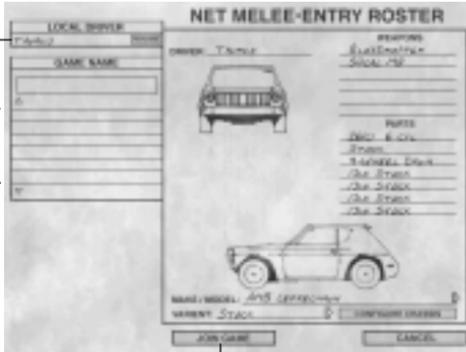

To host a battle on a local area network click on MELEE/MULTI MELEE/HOST/IPX from the Launch screen. The following screen will appear. See page 23 for details about vehicle selection.

- #1 and #2 Fwd: These are forward facing weapon slots on the front or side of your vehicle.
- #1 and #2 Rear: These are rear facing weapon slots on the back of your vehicle.
- #1 Dropper: This is a rear facing dropped weapon slot.
- Hand: This is your handheld weapon that can be fired out your side windows.

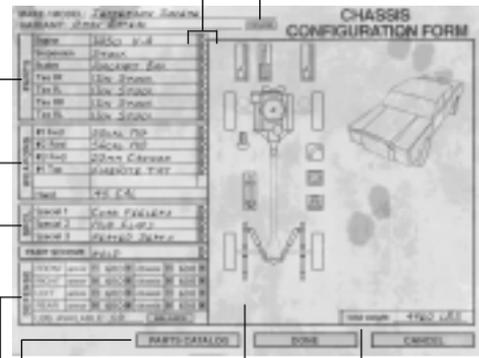

Here you can select up to three goodies that give your vehicle a little something extra. See Specials on page 52 for more information.

Here you can adjust your armor and chassis reinforcement values. Just click on + and - to raise or lower the values. The number displayed next to LBS. Available is what is available for distribution. You can click on Balance to evenly distribute your armor and chassis reinforcement. See Damage on page 26 for more information.

Click here to display a comprehensive list of all available vehicle components.

To the right of the screen is a graphic display of your vehicle that will reflect the changes that you make by displaying icons that represent each component.

This number represents the total weight of your vehicle, which is comprised of the base vehicle plus that of all the components and weapons. The heavier your car, the harder it is to handle.

Scoring

When playing IPX and Internet multi-player games or Instant Melee games against computer-controlled auto-villians, you are awarded score for enemy kills. The base score for each enemy is 1000 points. However, this may be adjusted depending on a score multiplier that is determined by the vehicle weight of the enemy divided by your vehicle weight (see page 24 for details on vehicle weight). For example, if you are using a large car that is fully loaded with the biggest weapons and you destroy a small car with small weapons, the score awarded for the kill will be less than 1000 points because of the multiplier, which exists to maintain fairness between players who use varying car and weapon types.

Click on the Max. Score box on the Net Melee Host Even Form to enable a maximum score level. When this option is enabled, the game will end when the maximum score is reached. You may click on the + or - signs to adjust the maximum score. The default is 20,000 points.

Team Play

When hosting an IPX or Internet multi-player game, you have the option of selecting team play by clicking the Team Play box on the Net Melee Host Event Form. After clicking on the Broadcast Game button, the Choose A Team menu will appear. Here you can select from one of eight different teams, each with a color in the team name. Once the game starts, the targeting brackets of the currently targeted vehicle will appear as the team color. This will help you differentiate between friends and foes in battle. Remember that you can kill a teammate just as easily as an enemy, but you are awarded no points.

When joining a team game, the Choose A Team box will appear after clicking on the Join Game button. Just select which team you wish to join.

Interstate '76 features over 30 types of vehicles many of which feature multiple variants. In the TRIP, you inherit Jade's Picard Piranha, which you can configure between missions. In Melee, you can choose and configure any of the vehicles that appear in the game.

Basic Driving

Take advantage of skidding. Use E-brake to spin around and fire off return shots. Rolling = bad.

Vehicles feature realistic driving physics and will handle accordingly. You will tend to lose a little control when driving off-road—especially over rough terrain. When driving off-road, be careful when driving over steep bumps as you may get airborne and roll your car. Also watch your speed or you may skid or fishtail the car.

Damage

Have Skeeter fix as much as possible - damaged parts won't be much help in battle.

Monitor status gauges - protect your weak spots!

Throughout the game, you will take damage in a variety of ways. To protect you, vehicles are outfitted with two types of defenses:

Chassis Reinforcement - This protects you from all types of collisions including rough terrain, structures, signs and other vehicles.

Armor - This protects you from the various types of weapons fire with the exception of bloxdroppers, which affect your chassis reinforcement. Note: Recent tests by the AVG have concluded that no defense is sufficient against fire weapons. The nature of the fire streams allow penetration through any defense system.

Between TRIP missions, you can select damaged parts to be repaired over the course of the next mission. Upon return, you can configure your car using these repaired parts. See Salvage Management on page 34 for more information on repair.

Tyler-Barnett TB525 Limited Edition Vigilante Instrument Suite

From world renowned Tyler-Barnett Industries comes the ultimate in auto-vigilante technology—the latest in a long tradition of the finest vehicle instrumentation. Presenting the Tyler-Barnett TB525 Limited Edition Vigilante Instrument Suite (VIS). Where road domination and elegance come together in perfect harmony.

Primary Display

1. Radar

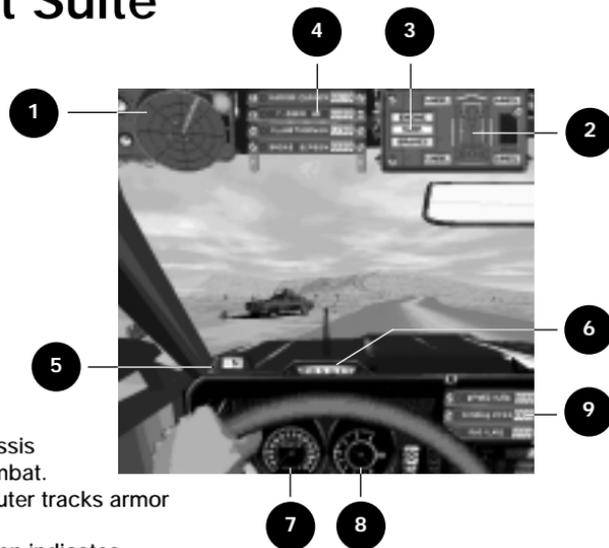

State-of-the-art military technology provides for easy tracking and targeting of enemy vehicles. Enemies will appear as blips on the radar. The radar will sweep until locked onto a target at which point the sweep will follow the target.

2. Armor/Chassis Reinforcement

Making its debut for 1976, this new addition to the VIS tracks body armor and chassis reinforcement, making it easy to know when to change driving patterns during combat. There are two graphic displays comprising the basic outline of your vehicle. The outer tracks armor status (protection from weapons fire) and the inner tracks chassis reinforcement (protection from collisions). Any section that is damaged will light accordingly. Green indicates slight damage, yellow indicates moderate damage and red indicates severe damage.

3. Systems Gauge

A quick glance is all you need to know the status of your vehicle's major components. Each component has its own indicator, which will light depending on the level of damage. White indicates no damage, green indicates slight damage, yellow indicates moderate damage and red indicates severe damage.

4. Weapons Display

Easy-to-use weapons display and ammunition counter. The display shows Forward facing weapons listed above the red and yellow stripe. Rear firing and Dropper weapons are listed below the stripe. Indicators conveniently placed next to each weapon will light when the weapon becomes damaged. White indicates no damage, green indicates slight damage, yellow indicates moderate damage and red indicates severe damage.

5. Compass

A standard compass that shows your directional heading. Provided free of charge with purchase of Limited Edition Package.

6. Drive Gear Indicator

The gear indicator is often ignored, but not anymore. By repositioning it from the steering column to the dashboard, you can check your gear with a quick glance.

Secondary Instruments

7. Speedometer

Accurately track your speed with this finely-tuned precision instrument.

8. Tachometer

Also new for 1976, this shows your current RPMs.

9. Specials Display

When in the heat of battle, it's hard to remember the little things. So, we've included the added luxury of a completely customizable Specials display, where you can easily list all of the goodies that have been added to your car.

Tyler-Barnett. . . Filling your auto-vigilante needs since 1972!

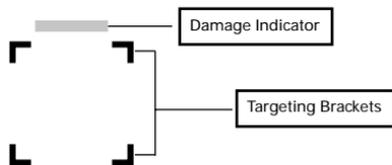

Selecting And Firing Weapons

Cycle through available weapons using the Weapons Toggle key (Enter), then hit the Fire key (Space Bar) to use the highlighted weapon. You can also link similar weapons that are facing the same direction by hitting the Link Weapons key (L). This will allow you to fire the linked weapons simultaneously by hitting the Fire key (Space Bar). You can also use a joystick for cycling through weapons (Button 2) and firing (Button 1). See Controller Config on page 38 for details.

Targeting

You can visually target a vehicle by centering it in the reticle on your hood or by using your vehicle's targeting system, which features the following functionality:

Radar Range	R
Target Nearest Enemy	T
Target Next Enemy	E
Cancel Target	Y
Target Under Reticle	Q
Weapons Camera	W

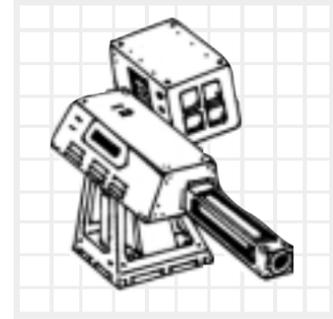

Hitting any of the above targeting keys will target the corresponding vehicle or object provided it is within range. A targeted object will have brackets around it in addition to a damage indicator. The damage indicator will change colors as the vehicle or object becomes more damaged. White indicates no damage, green indicates slight damage, yellow indicates moderate damage and red indicates severe damage.

You can adjust the range of the radar by pressing the Radar Range key (R). This will toggle between two different tracking ranges. And by pressing the Weapons Camera key (W), you can use the built-in weapons camera to display a graphic representation of the current target. This feature is only available when using a turreted weapon.

Turreted Weapons

A turreted weapon is mounted on the top of your car, and rotates regardless of the direction you are driving. It will lock on to the current target shown on your radar and will track it until a new target is selected. A turreted weapon is very useful when driving in extreme battle conditions.

Turrets remain locked on target - keep an eye on all nearby creepers in combat. Change targets if necessary. Use your weapon cam for extra assistance.

Heavy Machine Gun
with Turret

Linking Weapons

You can link similar weapons (L), which will allow you to simultaneously fire weapons of the same type that are facing the same direction. For example, any Slug Throwers that are facing the same direction may be linked. The same is also true for any Droppers, Flamethrowers, Mortars and self-propelled projectiles. Turreted weapons may not be linked.

Salvage Management

When in the TRIP, Skeeter will salvage what he can from the vehicles you destroy in the field. Then between missions, you can choose from the salvage and reconfigure your car or leave parts to be repaired. There is no Salvage Management in Melee.

Car/Van Inventory

1. When you arrive at this screen, review the Field Salvage area to see what parts Skeeter has salvaged from the previous mission.
2. Check out the Car/Van Inventory to see what you already have both on your car (C) and in Skeeter's van (V).
3. Click on the Field Salvage items you wish to put into your Car/Van Inventory (V).
4. Click on Accept Salvage to proceed.

Save Bookmark - Click on this button to save your current position in the TRIP. You can then return to any saved positions by using the Load Bookmark option found by clicking Options on the main title screen or by hitting the Esc key during the game and selecting Reconfigure/Load Bookmark.

Leave behind what you don't need - take what you do.

The damage state of a given part is indicated with a colored highlight. No highlight indicates no damage, a green highlight indicates a slightly damaged part, a yellow highlight indicates moderate damage and red indicates severe damage.

Build and Repair Form

Here you can reconfigure the Piranha using the available parts from Skeeter's van. Just click on the arrows to display popup menus for each component. Parts that are listed with a (C) in the popup menus are those that are currently part of the Piranha. Those listed with a (V) are part of the van inventory and those listed with an (R) are currently in repair. To the right of the screen is a graphic display of the Piranha that changes as the car is being reconfigured.

You will experience a lot of action in the field and your life will depend on how well you fight while driving. Here are some helpful hints contributed by members of the AVG.

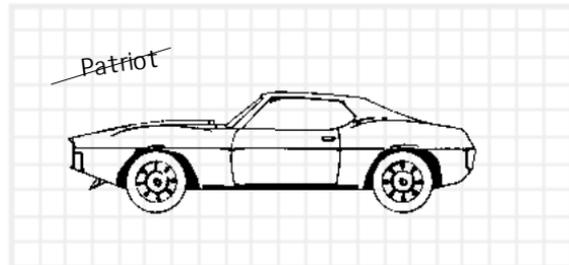

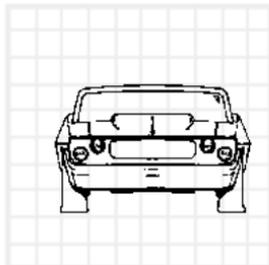

- Be careful when driving off road. You may take severe chassis reinforcement damage when driving over rough terrain.
- Keep your eye on everything around you. Be sure to use your radar and targeting functions to track enemy vehicles.
- While it is easy to lose control of your vehicle, you can also use skidding to your advantage. Auto-villians will often try to tail you and attack from behind. Use your Emergency Brake (Z) to quickly spin the car around and return fire.
- Use turreted weapons to your advantage. Once a target is selected, a turreted weapon will remain locked on the target and fire directly at it regardless of the direction you are driving.
- Be careful when firing missiles at close range. There is a chance that you will miss the target. Missiles are best used for medium and long range combat.
- Watch your speed around sharp turns. It is easy to lose control of your car and slide into the side of a mountain.
- Take advantage of the direct-firing weapon keys (1-5). This allows for easier and quicker firing without having to first cycle through your weapons.
- Use the F4 view in combat. This allows for the currently targeted vehicle to always remain in your view.
- For added firepower, link identical weapons facing the same direction (L) to allow for simultaneous firing.
- Try not to waste ammunition. You have a limited supply, and it is very difficult to fend off creepers when you have no weapons.

Study this Groove. You'll need all the help you can get!

Specials

If no jammer, then shut off engine to avoid radar/heat trackers.

Use oxide or blower for jumps.

Specials	Function
Radar Jammer	Invisible to radar
Nitrous Oxide	50% increase to current acceleration / 20% increase to top speed / Lasts only 15 seconds / 3 charges
Blower	25% increase to current acceleration / 10% increase to top speed / Lasts until removed or destroyed
X-Aust Brake	Cuts braking distance in half
Structo Bumpers	Double value of current front and rear chassis reinforcement
Curb Feelers	Prevents you from scraping your vehicle against curbs
Mud Flaps	Protects your vehicle from the hazards of mud damage
Heated Seats	Keeps your body warm during those cold desert evenings

Listen to your CB. This is your only way to communicate with Taurus in the field. He will help you out, so pay attention!

Use shortcuts when possible - like the one to Seagraves. You'll need to save time whenever possible.

Be careful past Seagraves. The roads are curvy - and more importantly creepers have been spotted in that area in the last few months. Wagon Wheel Diner could be meeting spot for Malochio's goons.

Taurus likes to use the dirt road off highway 385 for practicing driving over rough terrain - he may test you there.

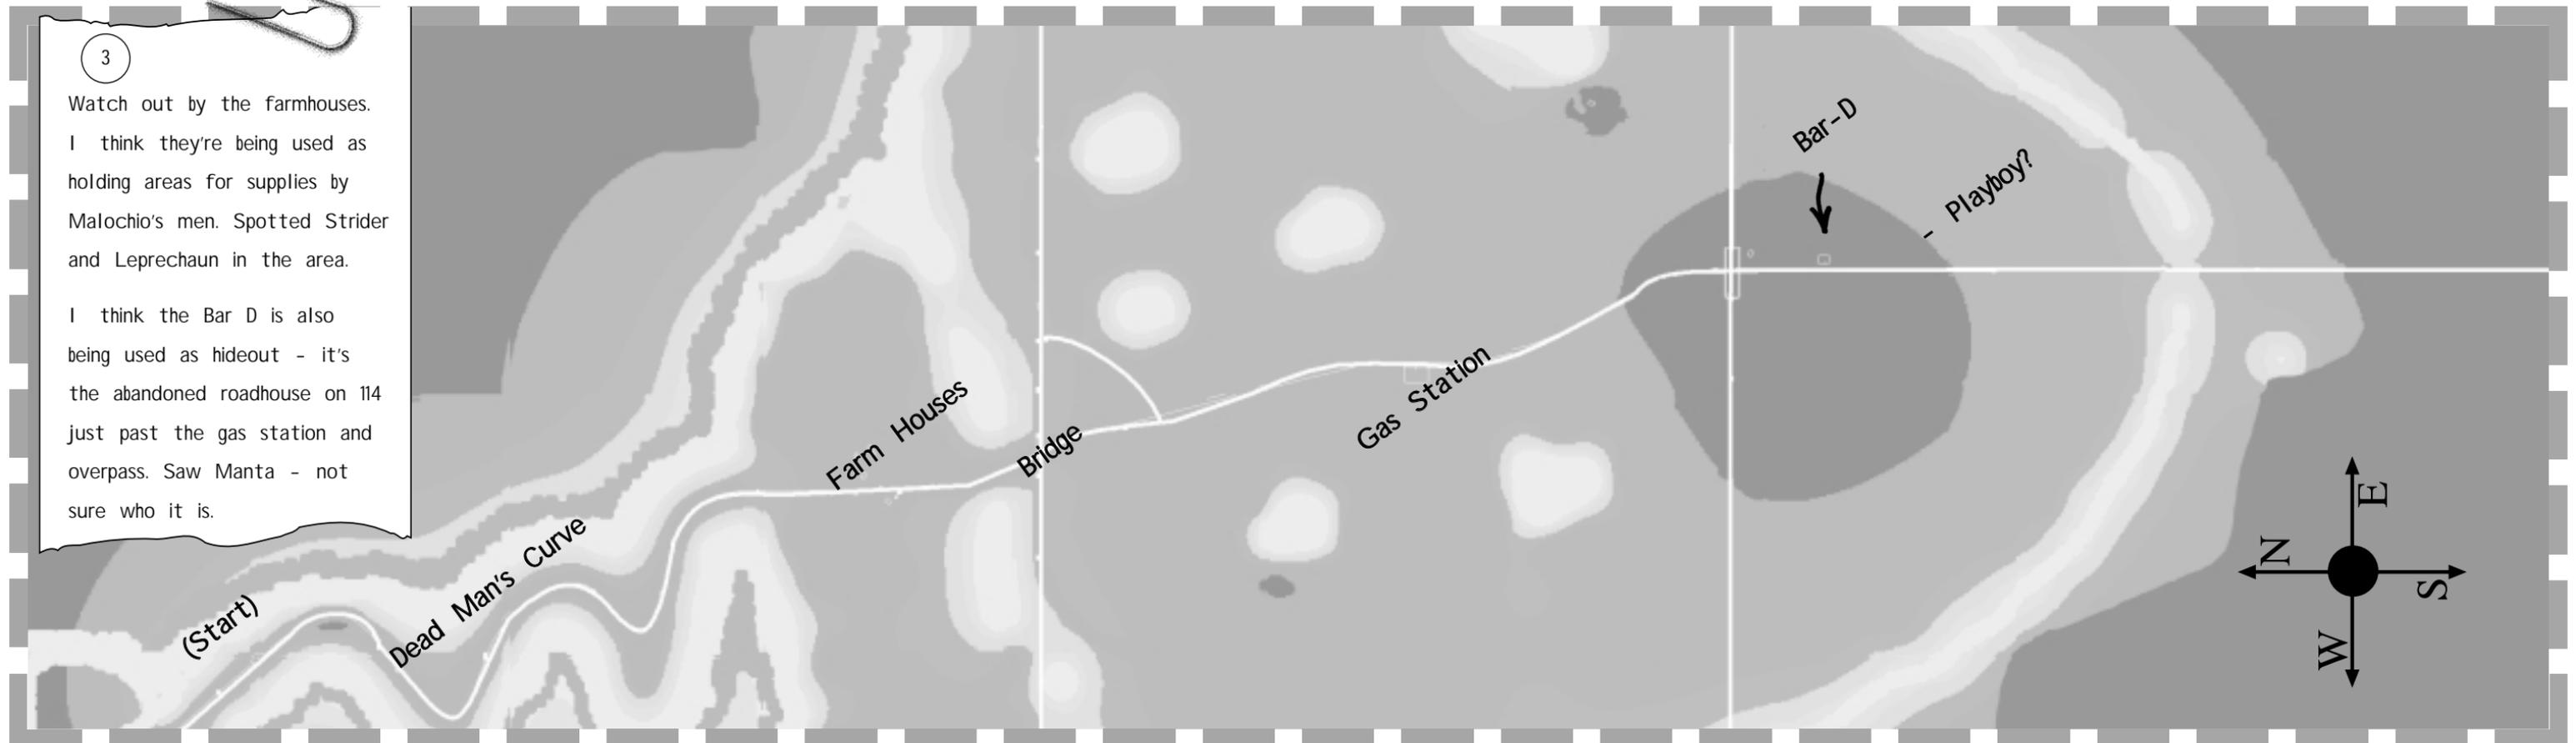

Look out for Lead Sled near Brownfield. He's been creeping around the area for the past few weeks. He usually drives a red Rattler.

Watch out by the farmhouses. I think they're being used as holding areas for supplies by Malochio's men. Spotted Strider and Leprechaun in the area.

I think the Bar D is also being used as hideout - it's the abandoned roadhouse on 114 just past the gas station and overpass. Saw Manta - not sure who it is.
